Comment and Gossip On Sports of the Day

By HERBERT

SOMEWHERE the sun has been shining, but he was a stranger the better part of last week at Saratoga Springs and Lake George. Abbe Moreaux, of the Bourges Observatory, says: "Every thirty-five years an ardent fever breaks out in the depths of the sun's atmosphere. The heat, carried to its extreme, evaporates our oceans, resulting in redoubled falls of rain." The sun's fever must have been more than ardent. There were fears that he had died of the affliction.

Sporting Race This Week.

SPREADING of the weather, the racing up the state has been uniformly interesting in spite of the unfavorable conditions, but improvement can be expected this week, as with a fast track the fields are sure to be stronger. Anticipation naturally centres on the Saratoga Special next Saturday—the sporting feature of the year and one of the most respected by horsemen. It calls for a subscription of $250 for three horses, only one of which can start, with half forfeit, while the association adds plate to the value of $1,000. With twelve starters the race will be worth close to $5,000, and the winner gets it all. The horses must meet at even weights—colts, 122 pounds; fillies, 119 pounds, so that the race usually goes far toward establishing the question of where the real quality lies among these which start.

BULSE and George Smith are not eligible, which is cause for regret, but in all probability they will not be missed, as indications point to a meeting of August Belmont's Friar Rock, L. S. Thompson's Dominant and possibly Bromo, as both were named under different subscriptions; R. T. Wilson's Ormesdale, rated for a time at the top; the Shoshone Stables' White Hackle, purchased last week for a fancy price from John E. Madden; R. F. Carman's Achievement, Foxhall P. Keene's Lorac and James Butler's Paddy Whack. Three or four others also may go out for the coveted prize, so that there is reason to anticipate a brilliant struggle. At this time Dominant, Friar Rock and Ormesdale are the ones most talked of. The last named was badly beaten by Friar Rock at Belmont Park, but it was the general feeling that the colt had an off day and ran far below his true form. Friar Rock is not in the Futurity, the Grand Union or the Hopeful Stakes, and consequently has been carefully pointed for this race as the one chance to prove his right and title to a place among the select.

Take Your Pick.

"WHICH is the best two-year-old of the year?" asks I. L. G. The question must be begged. Some say E. McBride's George Smith, others L. S. Thompson's Dominant. J. H. Parrish's Bulse, unbeaten up to the United States Hotel Stakes last Monday, when conceding big weight to Dominant and others, has a host of supporters; while August Belmont's Friar Rock, R. T. Wilson's Ormesdale and the Shoshone Stables' White Hackle must be considered. Jefferson Livingston's Colonel Vennie might be included also, although his victory over White Hackle last week may have been due to the mud. For the present, then, it is impossible to pick out the leading contender for the two-year-old crown. Let those who are impatient make their own selection.

IN assigning weights for the Delaware Handicap at Saratoga Springs to-day Old Rosebud was allotted 126 pounds and placed second to Roamer, under 132. This horse, which ranked with Pennant as the best two-year-old of 1913, broke down in the running of the Withers in the spring of 1914, and has been in retirement since then. If he trains on the turf will be the richer.

A Task for Hercules.

LITTLE is known in the East of T. Nelson Metcalfe, the newly appointed coach of the Columbia football eleven, but he comes so highly recommended that there is reason to believe an excellent choice has been made. He has the quality of boldness in any case, for no coach ever faced a more difficult task. He has a double duty to perform—build a winning team from green material and make football popular with the powers that be on Morningside Heights. Here's wishing him all the success in the world.

Status of the Feds.

WHILE talking with a man closely identified with the Federal League last week I was rather surprised to have him say, "It may sound foolishly optimistic, but Federal League owners are well satisfied with conditions. The crowds, of course, are small but everything points to the fact that the prejudice against us is far less than a year ago, and this we consider a forward step. Don't forget that the Federal League is out for a long pull and expects small crowds and some loss. It is easier for us, then, than for those who are counting on holding up dividends. One does not expect much when building."

BASEBALL has been suffering from one end of the country to the other. The Federal League cannot be held altogether responsible. Hundreds are turning from getting their entertainment in looking on by taking up golf, lawn tennis or some other sport in which they can take an active part. The cheap automobile, too, has turned hundreds away from the baseball parks. It seems almost as if most everybody had a friend who owned a Ford or a Saxon or some other four-wheeler, and the lure of the country has come to be stronger than the lure of the diamond.

Against Umpire Baiting.

JIM GAFFNEY, chief owner of the Boston Braves, has declared himself emphatically against "umpire baiting," and insists that the players must devote more attention to the game and less to the careers of the diamond. If every owner and manager would take the same stand baseball would be the game, but owners, managers and players are only human, and just so long as the world lasts umpires must be the target for those who, in the heat of conflict, forget everything except their own real or fancied grievances. Still, Jim Gaffney must be applauded for expressing sentiments in accord with the morale which should rule the game even if he does not. Then, too, some of the players at least may respect his feelings and control themselves better when decisions which appear to be against them are made. It will help a little.

Athletics and the Body.

EVERY so often somebody takes a fling at the dangers of athletics from overtraining without weighing the many benefits in the balance. It is asserted that few American athletes who make great records at college live to middle life, and that sprinters in particular frequently die of heart failure before reaching the age of forty years. Statistics compiled by men who have made a close study of athletics and their future show that the percentage of mortality up to a given age is remarkably low. "Anxious" sends the following clipping, evidently from the pen of an alarmist:

"Instead of building up the body, the prevailing method of training and performance tends to break it down. Europeans have a far happier expression for the employment of their bodily activities in the word 'sport,' which implies the combination of a healthy spirit with what we call exercise. Such an attitude is almost unknown here. Instead there exists a form of overdoing that finds its chief reward in the applause of the multitude and later physical trouble. 'Athletics' have long been under the influence of so-called 'trainers,' frequently men of keen judgment and technical skill, but without any systematic acquaintance with physical truths. The best intellectual feature of rival contests—the encouragement of each man to put forth the best that is in him and to exercise his ingenuity in the development and maintenance of an efficient, superior body—is suppressed by the advent of that guardian saint, the trainer."
